

Cathy Robinson Benefit Golf Outing

"Cathy's RSD Story"

"To see Cathy embrace her children, with a smile on her face, without pain, would prove to be a major "MIRACLE".

Cathy is a 33 year old, mother of three, and wife to Kurt. In October of 2003, Cathy was involved in an automobile accident and suffered an injury to her shoulder, which ultimately triggered the onset of RSD in February 2004. Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy (RSD) is a debilitating and chronic neuropathic pain syndrome, and a condition that lends itself to paralysis. Cathy had undergone all of the medical procedures that were available in the USA, to no avail. Her treating doctor referred her to an experimental treatment, offered only in Germany. As this procedure appeared to be Cathy's only hope, we journeyed to Germany, where she underwent an intensive Ketemine infusion therapy. This procedure offered notable relief of her pain, but her battle with RSD continues, as she now must continue to undergo periodic booster infusion procedures. There still remains a long, hard road ahead to acquire full remission. Throughout this entire experience, Cathy's love, spirit and involvement with her family has never wavered, even though her physical abilities have diminished. Your continued support for Cathy is vital to our efforts in providing her the opportunity to live a pain-free and active life.

The Corr and Robinson families would like to thank all of those participating in our fund raising efforts.
